On 6th October to celebrate the 2018 opening night and launch of two brand NEW Horror Mazes, a Nightmare Parade is being hosted at The Howl Horror Nights at Mead Open Farm.

Joining hundreds of fearless fright lovers, the opening ceremony will be packed with enough clowns, werewolves and demons to keep even the hardiest horror lovers awake at night!

The two NEW Horror Mazes at The Howl (Red and The Attic) are open for 12 nights of fright throughout October. Red is a terrifying take on Red Riding Hood that's no fairy tale whilst The Attic is a space so dark & deadly no one will ever return.

Said Howl Director Matt Heast 'This year our opening night is set to be bigger, better and more twisted than ever before. With 2 NEW mazes to launch, our Nightmare Parade is set to raise even the deepest creatures from their graves - we can't wait!'

Throughout the 12 incredible nights, fright lovers can explore 5 amazing horror mazes, full of live, terrifying creatures. In addition to the two new haunts, visitors won't want to miss the death-defying Shed of Dread, nightmare inducing Toppers Twister (a must for clown lovers!) and the terrifying Squealers Yard there's something for every adrenaline junkie. Plus, for those not feeling brave, there's award winning banter with the street entertainers, fabulous street food and the famous Hearse and Hound Bar. Visitors can listen to live music from NEW resident band Jukebox too.

A top tip? Be sure to bring someone you can hide behind for the scariest and best Halloween night out of the year.

The Howl runs for 12 nights from 6 October – 3 November from 6.30pm at Mead Open Farm, Billington near Leighton Buzzard. For best value tickets, grab your mates and book online in advance to SAVE at www.thehowl.co.uk.
